Changes at the Station.

Mr McCulla arrived from the East early Saturday morning, and Mr Worth, the relief man, returned to Edson the same day. This gent has secured a position with the Canadian Pacific at Shanghai, China, and leaves next week for his new post. Mr J Smith of Edmonton arrived Saturday, and will replace Mr R W Graves, the popular night agent, who leaves this week for his former post at Hinton, B.C.

Meet Me at the Comet Picnic

The picnics and sports days seem to be coming pretty close together these times, but the one on Tuesday next at the Comet Butts promises to be one of the best. The affair is under the auspices of Stony Plain U.F.W.A.

As everyone knows, the picnics and games held in the country are the best and most enjoyable, and as the one next week is only a few miles from Stony, it should attract quite a few from town.

The shooting contest will be the first on the program. This will be held in the morning. Dinner will be served on the grounds. Shortly after dinner, a lively program of sporting events will be turned loose. The bill includes football, baseball, horse racing, a nail driving contest for ladies, races for young people, catching the greased pig, boxing, chicken races, stout gents' contest, tug-of-war, and a race for old roosters 50 years and up.

Lunch will be served at the booth by members of the U.F.W.A.

The picnic will be followed by a dance in the evening at Comet schoolhouse.

Parents Visit at School.

A delegation of the S. D. ratepayers paid a visit to the Consolidated School on the afternoon of Wednesday last. Each member of the delegation had children in attendance at the school, and after giving the class room a careful inspection and the Principal some questioning, they seemed fairly convinced that there is immediate need of two rooms more, to provide adequate accommodation for the pupils when the term opens August 28th.

With this view in mind, it seems advisable to invite some of the heads of the Department of Education out, to give the situation the once over, with the hope that immediate action may be taken. Let's hope for the best, and give the boys and girls a proper chance.

Shoots for All.

Three thousand rounds of ammunition arrived last week for the local Rifle Club. There will be a big tournament on Tuesday, July 4th, at the Comet Butts, commencing at 9 a.m., when all the firing squads of the Club are expected to put in an appearance. The first team up will be that of Capt. Powell, which will be given 45 minutes, when they will be replaced by another squad. Competition will continue to 1 p.m., when lunch will be served on the picnic ground. This is the preliminary to the big picnic on the Fourth, to which everyone is expected to come.

Don't forget the date—July Fourth. Come, and bring your wives, babies and sweet hearts.

Birthday Of The Dominion

The fifty-first anniversary of Confederation on July 1 finds Canada enjoying fairly robust national health and credit standing in comparison with other countries, in pretty good shape financially, and its people contented and happy.

Of course, in these early after-war years, conditions in Canada, as in all countries, must be viewed in the light cast by that great world upheaval. It is impossible to fairly contrast conditions in the years before the war with those which now prevail, because the standard of comparison has in so many important respects been completely altered. When considering present-day conditions in Canada the comparison should rather be made with conditions as they are found to exist in other countries.

Applying this test to Canada on the occasion of its fifty-first birthday our people have good reason for satisfaction. Probably no country has suffered less during the past year from industrial turmoil and labor troubles than has the Dominion. No great national disaster occurred. While there was much unemployment during the past winter, even in this respect the Dominion presented a more favorable aspect than most countries. The returns from agriculture were not all that had been expected, but the adverse conditions of last year have operated in certain respects to improve the outlook this year.

The operations of the past year have resulted in the Canadian dollar again reaching almost par on the United States money markets, while the credit of the Dominion has not only remained sound and strong but has improved. The deficit on the National Railways has been substantially reduced, and although there is still a long road to travel before earnings will overtake all costs of operation, maintenance and interest charges, gratifying progress towards that goal has been recorded.

As a national birthday gift, too, comes the definite assurance of a substantial reduction in freight rates, a reduction which will certainly give an impetus to business generally and which will, we confidently predict, prove advantageous to the railways themselves.

At this anniversary time, however, while rejoicing because of the many blessings which the people of Canada enjoy, every patriotic citizen should also give serious heed and thought to the needs of their Dominion, the dangers which confront it, and the duty of the individual in the circumstances.

It would be foolish to seek to disguise the fact that the national debt of over two and a quarter billions of dollars, not to speak of Provincial, Municipal and School debts, is a heavy load for less than eight million people to carry. Not only must interest charges on that stupendous sum of money be met, but an effort must be made to reduce the principal sum from year to year until it is brought to a level where it can be carried without constituting a burden and an ever present obstacle to the inauguration of enterprises essential to the continued betterment and progress of the country.

There is only one way in which this burden of debt can be carried and removed, and that is through taxation, and the people of Canada must, therefore, be prepared to pay heavy taxes for many years to come. It is their contribution to the peace and personal liberty they enjoy; it is one of the duties of citizenship which they must unflinchingly discharge. And heavy though these taxes may bear, they are light in Canada when placed in comparison with what the people of most countries throughout the world today are called upon to pay.

But there is only one way in which taxes can be paid, and that is through the industry and labor of the people—not a portion of the population, but all the people. Wealth is not produced through the process of printing bank bills. If it were, Russia would be the richest country in the world today, instead of being in a state of poverty and internationally bankrupt. Finely engraved bank bills are merely the outward evidence of wealth created through labor, and represented by these bills for convenience in transacting the business of the world. It is through labor, and labor alone, that wealth is produced, and it is vitally important for Canada, and for each and every Canadian citizen to become thoroughly seized of that fact and conduct themselves accordingly.

On this anniversary of Confederation, each citizen of Canada might well resolve to make their country a birthday present, and no present could be more acceptable, or more far-reaching in its beneficial results not only to the Dominion as a whole but also each individual calling Canada "home," than a determination, expressed or unexpressed, on the part of all citizens to make Canada's new year one of hard, conscientious productive work. Nothing will more surely start all the wheels of business and national activity revolving more rapidly, nothing will more quickly bring about a new era of prosperity, and nothing less will suffice to relieve Canada of its greatest danger—its unduly large national debt.

A Fatal Temperature

Soldier's Scheme to Stay in Hospital Did Not Work

A convalescent soldier, who was so comfortable in the hospital he hated the idea of leaving it, thought of a plan to prolong his stay. While his nurse's back was turned he removed the clinical thermometer she had placed in his mouth and held it for a few moments against the register. The nurse, returning to him, looked at the thermometer, but never blinked an eye. She merely murmured, "Poor fellow!" and went off to make her report.

Later she came back and announced that the patient was leaving that day. "But nurse," he protested, "my temperature was away up this morning."

"I know," she replied calmly, "up to 140. That's why they're moving you—you're dead."—The Veteran.

Edward Brown, Provincial Treasurer of Manitoba, that arrangements have been made by the Government for the Manitoba Farm Loans Act for raising an additional $1,000,000, Lachlan MacNell, chairman of the Farm Loans Board, informed Mr. Brown that there was an overdraft of $465,000 for loans already made and approved applications amounting to $480,000 from farmers of the province needing immediate assistance. The treasurer called a meeting of the provincial cabinet and arranged the flotation of a $1,000,000, three-year, five per cent. province of Manitoba loan, which was sold to the Dominion Securities Corporation for 98.70. Animals Seek Place to Die

Prospector Explains Why Remains Are Found in Underground Caves

Harry Wigg, a prospector well known in the Transvaal and Rhodesia, offers a remarkable explanation of the finding of the remains of wild animals in underground caves.

He maintains that the same call that sets wild life migrating sends these creatures to a known god when they know their time has come to die.

Mr. Wigg recalls an interesting experience he had in Southern Rhodesia, when a vast sepulchre of wild life was shown him by the Chief Nog of Southern Rhodesia. They passed down a valley in which there were neither trees nor birds nor any life whatsoever. Utter stillness reigned.

The end of the valley was closed by a jagged, weather-worn curtain of conglomerate and, on a ledge some ten feet above the floor on the valley was the entrance to a cave, the centre of which was cleft by a big fissure.

Huge boulders of conglomerate integrated from the softer sandstone formed niches and minor caves and galleries.

Every inch of the ledges was covered by the remains of animals, while a pit was filled high with thousands of skeletons of all the big buck and elephant, rhino and buffalo in all stages of "dry" decay.

Mr. Wigg had apparently found "the place where elephants die," of which much of a legendary nature has been said and written.

My head hurt so bad at times it seemed it would split open and I never ate a meal without having awful pains and bloating of gas that kept me perfectly miserable for hours. I could scarcely eat any thing, lost weight, and was so nervous I never could get a good night's sleep.

More Peril on Ground

Statistics Show More Infantry Officers Killed Than Airmen

There was less danger of death in the late war to officers who fought in the air than to those who combated on the earth. French statistics show that 25 per cent. of infantry officers were killed, while only 21 per cent. of aviation officers lost their lives.

The fatalities among officers in general as compared to enlisted men in all branches were nearly equal, being 19 per cent. for the former and 18.5 per cent. for the latter.

The percentage of losses by age show that the 20-year-old soldiers, both officers and men, suffered the most. Here the death list was 29.2 per cent., while men from 45 to 50 years old lost in killed between 3 per cent. and 5 per cent. of their numbers.

Fliske Farm, Elba,

June 24th, 19—

In spite of Mr. Arnold's prediction, I am not in a state of mental and physical collapse. Neither have I, since I reached the Fliske Farm, scrubbed the floors, done the washing, milked twelve cows, or cooked the dinner in a red-hot kitchen full of flies. In passing I might say that Mrs. Eliska's kitchen is the coolest and most delightful room in the house, and as for flies—why, even one fly would give her nervous prostration!

To be exact, I have just finished correcting several Latin exercises for Miss Fliske—christened Orvetta, known as Orvety on Sundays, and as Orvety on weekdays. That does not appear as if I were a plain hired girl, does it?

I was listening, with due attention to Mary's farewell lecture on Tuesday when a war-whop from Percival made me jump in a manner most humiliating to one who prides herself on a total lack of nerves.

"See, here's Gypsy Fliske in the auto! Come on, Reg." And the two boys, shouting a hearty welcome to the evidently popular unknown, clattered down the stairs.

Brethren, my time is come," announced Mary solemnly. "This is positively your last chance to escape, Eliska. If your heart falls you now, tell me quickly, and I shall inform the unknown Gypsy that I am Miss Eliska Eliot—and I wonder how long they would stand me as a working companion?"

"Don't be silly, Mary," I replied. "One would think to hear you that I am going into some awful danger."

"Well, doesn't such a combination as Gypsy Fliske and an automobile strike you as being dangerous?" she retorted.

"Come right up, Orvety," we heard Mrs. Mills's voice from the stairs;

Headaches Gone

"Perhaps you can imagine what this means to one who has suffered terribly with headaches for ten years."

Read about it in this letter.

Mrs. Tena A. Smith, Country Harbor Cross Roads, N. S., writes:

"I feel that if anyone can recommend Dr. Chase's medicine I certainly can. I suffered for ten years from severe headaches, and although I took all kinds of headache powders they just relieved me at the time. I became very nervous and run-down, and everything seemed to trouble me. I have taken eleven boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and it has made me an entirely new person of me. I felt that I could not have lived without it. I do not have one headache now. I feel every hundred I used to have, and my nerves are good and strong. I just weighed 109 pounds when I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and now I weigh 121. Knowing what this treatment has done for me, I cannot too highly recommend it to others."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c a box, all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

"the young ladies are in the setting-room. My I like them auto home!" Do you think one of them would become mad? A real one, say, with perhaps a bit of a feather on it? I was always partial to red."

"Young ladies?" questioned another voice. "I thought."

"Hush-hush," retorted Mrs. Mills as she opened the door. Gypsy, alias Orvety, Fliske deserves a paragraph to herself. My first thought as she entered the room behind Mrs. Fliske was that she was the handsomest girl I had ever seen—not pretty, really handsome—and after watching her for the greater part of the time for three days I have not changed my mind. Why didn't Harford warn me, I wonder? She is taller than I (five feet nine, I should say), and beautifully proportioned. Her hair is black the soft dusky black, as are her eyebrows and lashes, and she has the thick creamy skin that sun and wind do not mark. But her eyes are the most wonderful part of all, wide-set, tilted just the least bit at the corners, and black? Not a bit of it, but the bluest of blue. I am sure that Mrs. Mills enjoyed the politely concealed wonder with which we three girls met each other.

For a few minutes we discussed the weather, crop prospects, my impressions of Canada, and other kindred themes. And then it was time for Mary to go to the station.

Miss Fliske took us all in the motor-car, which she drives for herself. She, Mrs. Mills, and myself, and the front seat, Mary and I the back one, and the twins were overjoyed to be allowed to ride on the rumble seat. If Mr. Livingston's horses were a trifle fresh, Miss Fliske's car was truly veritable. I had time to look out the window before we were at the station. Elba is not so populous that speed regulations are strictly enforced, and it was clear, so we did not break any time.

It is the custom in Elba, for all the inhabitants thereof to see the each-bound train out of town. Mary says that she can now sympathize with royal society, and the strict house-fully kept Mrs. Mills and the boys occupied, so Mary and I were able to say goodbye in comparative privacy.

It was a very solemn Eliska who took her place in the motor-car after the train had carried Mary out of sight. The boys begged to sit in front and blow the horn, so Mrs. Mills came behind with me. "Don't you fret now," she said sympathetically under cover of the blood-curdling shrieks of the steam, "you'll be all right with Arabella, an' Gypsy a real nice girl."

At five o'clock Miss Fliske and I left for the farm, which is four miles from Elba. We went in the direction of the few trees I had seen, and I found that they followed the course of a little river known as "Livingstone's Creek." Miss Fliske drove slowly, and as we passed each farm-house, gave me a short history of the family that lived in it.

But I could see that, in spite of her air of unconcern, she was not at her ease. At last she blurted out:

"Miss Eliot, do you know what a working companion's duties are? I mean, this," and here her courage failed her.

"Well," I replied, glad that the ice was broken, "it might be at one time that I did, but it seems now that I must have been mistaken. But I will do my best, and perhaps your mother and I can make some satisfactory arrangement. I shall certainly not go back on my bargain now."

"The trouble is that Mother had very little to do with it," Miss Fliske answered. "I am the one responsible."

And then she told me how it was that they had advertised for a working companion rather than for a general servant.

"Mother is going to Ontario for a visit this summer," she began, "and she will not leave me without a woman to keep me company. And even if I could stay alone I could not manage all the work—we have six men to cook for, besides all the general housework."

"But you simply cannot imagine how hard it is to get anyone to work for you in the country. Since I have been away to school Mother has had one girl after another. All the nice ones get married in a few months and the others are—awful! The last one we had got drunk on a bottle of horse-liniment and nearly killed herself. And the one before that was a homesick German who cried all the time, and after six weeks stopped with travelling butler. And the one before that 'wasn't used to kitchen work' all she could do was dust, and set the table fit for a banquet."

"So I just told Mother that I had to have someone who could be a companion to me while she was away, and I wrote the advertisement. When your letter came I read it right out of the bunch. 'That's the one I want, Dad,' I said. 'You see, we never thought of asking, and you never thought of giving, your age. I made up my mind that you were one of those nice, capable, middle-aged Englishwomen who had perhaps been somebody's housekeeper for twenty years or so.'"

Production of Dairy Butter

Increased Output for 1921 Over Previous Year

The total quantity of dairy butter produced in 1921 in Canada was 122,776,580 pounds valued at $45,895,832. This is an increase in quantity over the previous year of 11,081,862 pounds. Increased production is shown by all the provinces with the exception of Prince Edward Island, the largest proportionate increase 36 per cent, being recorded by British Columbia. In order of dairying importance the provinces rank: Ontario, Quebec, Alberta, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Nova Scotia, British Columbia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island.

The indications of worms are restlessness, gridding of the teeth, picking of the nose, extreme peevishness, or convulsions. Under these conditions one of the best remedies that can be got is Miller's Worm Powders. They will attack the worms as soon as administered and they pass away in the evacuations. The little sufferer will be immediately eased and a return of the attack will not be likely.

Newspapers Help In

Solving Problems

Minister of Interior, Tells Association of Power of Press

At the convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association held in Ottawa recently, a number of interesting papers were read.

Hon. Chas. Stewart, Minister of the Interior, in an interesting address, said he wished to congratulate Mr. French on being president of such a fine body of people, who did so much to mould public opinion in the Dominion. His slogan had always been business first and politics afterwards. He found that he had not worked in Alberta during the last election, but he had not yet altered his opinion.

The association could do a lot to help him in his work as Minister of the Interior. In the immigration problem, the department was at a loss to account for the fact that Canada was losing its immigrants. A certain section of Ontario, for instance, had a smaller population than it had some 15 or 20 years ago. The returned settlers' settlement scheme too had not proved all it promised to be. He thought that the weekly press of Canada could help him determine the causes of these things so that remedies could be applied. He thought that a movement of co-ordinating throughout the country to make things for the immigrant easier and to remedy faults where they occurred would do much to place Canada on a basis of contentment and prosperity.

Referring to the weekly paper in particular, Mr. Stewart said it was truly the home paper. It was taken home, read and re-read, each member of the family considering it an essential part of the home life. In the rural districts, especially in the west, the receipt of the weekly paper from the old home town was looked forward to with keen interest, as it was largely the medium by which the settlers kept in touch with old friends.

Mr. Stewart said he admired the courage and ambition of the weekly publisher, who had, in many cases, to overcome very serious handicaps before his paper became a success. The public owed a debt of gratitude to the weekly editor, who in many cases, was the mainstay of the community.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS

is greatly relieved by constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a constitutional remedy. Catarrh of the Eustachian tube is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing. And when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be removed your hearing may be destroyed forever. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and assisting Nature in restoring normal conditions.

Royal Welcome To Prince Of Wales On Return To England

London.—England gave an affectionate and joyous welcome to the Prince of Wales upon his return from his third imperial tour of the world, London, which he left eight months ago, greeted him with a fervor and spontaneity befitting a royal ambassador of the Empire returning from a series of diplomatic triumphs.

Through his half-hour ride from Paddington Station to Buckingham Palace, the Prince was acclaimed by jubilant crowds, who showered upon him salutations of affection and loyalty. Although he had been the recipient of endless stirring ovations on previous occasions, the Prince was profoundly affected by London's ringing welcome his pride and gratitude showing through tears of joy.

The Prince's reception by London's millions was exceeded in depth and emotion only by the ardent family greeting when he stepped from the train. The King grasped him by both hands and the Queen embraced him with motherly affection. Princess Mary who was married during his absence, discarding stilted royal decorum, threw both arms around him, and hugged him. Dowager Queen Alexandra and other relatives embraced him. The Prince's greeting to Viscount Lascelles, whom he met for the first time, consisted of a formal handshake, with no effort at conversation.

Observing the Prime Minister among the group of cabinet members, generals and ambassadors, the Prince advanced rapidly and greeted him effusively. Mr. Lloyd George returned the salutations with vigorous congratulations at the success of the Prince's tour.

After the Prince had shaken hands with the members of the cabinet and inspected the guards of honor with the King, a choir in the station sang, "God Bless the Prince of Wales," the tuneful strains of the popular melody resounding throughout the great covered railway terminal. The Prince then entered an open carriage with the King and his two brothers.

Cyclone in Mossbank District

Windstorm Causes Considerable Damage to Farm Property

Regina.—A cyclone from the southeast travelling northwest struck Mossbank district and did damage which will run high.

The farm buildings on the farm of John Ireland, including garage, granary, large barn 36 by 70 ft., were reduced to kindling, all the outbuildings have disappeared and the roof of the kitchen is nowhere to be found. The family took refuge in the cellar.

An automobile, wagons and machinery were twisted into junk. One of Mr. Ireland's cows was taken up in the air and in falling some distance away was killed.

On the farms of Peter Horn, Herb Payne and Josiah Ireland, granaries, barns and outbuildings were blown to pieces and completely destroyed.

For a time Mossbank people watched the funnel shaped cloud which came within one mile from town near the Elmer Wighton farm. Here it raised and divided, descended in all its fury on the farm of John Ireland. A heavy rain and some half fell following the cyclone.

Practice of Conferring Titles

Appointment of Committee to Consider Question in Britain

London.—Fifteen members of the House of Commons have agreed to support the submission of a motion for the appointment of a select committee to consider the system under which honors are conferred, the idea being to discover what changes, if any, are necessary to ensure that honors shall be given only as awards of public service.

Question.—The House on this matter, Bright Hon. Austen Chamberlain, Government leader, said the present practice was for recommendations to be sent direct to the Premier by the different governmental departments.

Joseph Dugan, M.P. for Falmouth, asked: "Will Mr. Chamberlain state what is charged for a baronetcy and what price has to be paid for knighthood?"

There was no answer to this question.

COULDN'T DO HOUSEWORK. HEART WAS SO BAD

Many women who work in the home and are unable to look after their household duties owing to the heart action becoming impaired of the nervous system.

Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy instead of sick and wretched. But how can a woman be strong and healthy when day in and day out she has to go through the same routine of work, sweeping, dusting, cooking, washing, etc. to it any woman that the heart becomes affected and she gets irritable and nervous, has hot flashes, faint and dizzy spells, smothering and sinking spells and can't sleep at night.

To all women whose heart is weak and whose nerves are unstrung we would recommend

MILBURN'S

as the best remedy to tone up the system and strengthen the weakened organs.

Mrs. Daniel Beaman, Loganville, N.S., writes: "I was troubled with a weak heart for nearly two years I am writing to tell you what your great remedy, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, has done for me."

"My heart was so bad at night I could not sleep. I would take smothering spells, and was so weak I could not do my housework. I tried two doctors, but got no results. A friend advised me to try your pills. I used six boxes and am completely relieved. I think they are the best remedy for heart trouble there is."

Irish Republicans Express Regret Over Results Of Elections

Dublin.—The results of the elections give a substantial majority to the pro-treaty element. The republicans are generally surprised and disappointed over the results but assert that these were due to the defective register, and they anticipate a more successful fight on the new suffrage comprising audits of both sexes.

Labor's evident opposition to them would appear to negative this hope, but they expect friction over the constitution between the Labor members and the treaty party.

A majority of the joint Sinn Fein is not in doubt. If they agreed they would outnumber all the others by nearly 40, but the prospects of an agreement are disappearing and the division of the Dail now seems more likely to follow the essential division between those who support and those who oppose the treaty. On both sides there is pessimism as to the possibility of forming a coalition.

Mr. De Valera made this announcement to newspaper representatives seeking a statement on the results of the elections. He said: "The results seem indeed a triumph for the 1916 Imperial methods of pacification—outrage, murder and massacre, and then a threat with a concession, the policy of a kick and a carress, with a kick in reserve."

"By the results of immediate renewal of the infamous war, our people, harassed and weary and fearful of chaos, have in the majority voted as England wanted, but their hearts and their aspirations are unchanged, and Ireland will free will never be at rest or genuinely reconciled with England. England's gain is for the moment only, and England's difficulty will still be prayed for as Ireland's opportunity."

Mr. De Valera said it was only a draft and he felt confident that the Dail would not pass it as it stands. "As it stands," he said, "it will exclude from public service and practically disfranchise every honest republican."

Further Sums for Unemployed

London.—Premier Lloyd George received one of the largest deputations at No. 10 Downing Street, which was headed by the Premier's residence, it comprising 125 persons, including some sixty members of the House of Commons, who appealed on behalf of the Boards of Guardians, which are in grave financial straits, for the heavy calls for unemployment relief.

The Premier, while expressing sympathy, said he could not ask the House of Commons to sanction an increase for the Boards of Guardians for unemployment relief based on local taxation. The only remedy he could use for the present unfortunate condition was a revival of trade.

Ladies, Please Bring Axes and Hammers.

The Sports Committee of the Cornet Picnic report quite a success in getting prizes for the contests on the Fourth. Along with those enumerated in another column, the following have been added: Mr T J Hardwick has donated a prize to the lady winning the wood-splitting contest; while Councillor Lord gives a prize to the lady winning in the contest for sawing green poplar poles. A suitable prize will be given to the lady winner of the nail driving contest. The Pig Committee have acquired a fine specimen of a porker for the greased pig contest. This fellow will belong to the lady or gent who captures him.

Glory Hills.

The contract, for work to be done on the Glory Hills Schoolhouse has been let to Mr Pailer, his bid of $151.00 being the lowest.

The long-looked-for Councillor, Mr Dan Brox, has at last showed up and gave orders to Mr J A Willie, foreman, to open the road and cover the bridge on the Meridian road, opposite the farm of Mr A Kronz. This improvement will be a credit to Glory Hills. We are told that the Government intends to put in two bridges on this road this summer.

Stony Plain and District

Mr Shreeves last week sold a car of Black Diamond coal to Mr I. Wight.

Motor parties to the City on Sunday will note that the sale of gasoline on that day has been stopped.

A meeting of the Stony Plain Womens' Institute was held Friday evening last, when reports were read from the delegates to the recent Convention in Calgary.

A meeting of the Chautauqua committee was held Monday night in the town hall, when Mr. K. T. Lea of the Dominion Chautauqua was present and gave an address. Committees were struck to look after the several arrangements.

Work is proceeding at a good rate on the half-mile of grading which will connect the two dead ends on the Road up from Eberhardt's Church. The road gang is under the foremanship of Louis Ulmer.

Supt. Bryan, of the A. P. P., is anxious to locate a detachment in Stony, if suitable quarters can be found. Those having a place of this nature to lease would confer a favor by communicating with the Superintendent, in Edmonton.

The concert held yesterday evening at Brightbank School House was a complete success, and was well attended. The chicken supper which preceded it left nothing to be desired.

Mr Van Wassenhove, who farms six miles east of Edmonton, has in this season, 110 acres of Early Ohio, Early Rose and High Cobblers, and hopes to have spuds on the market before the B. C. product arrives.

The High River Times says potato bugs have invaded that district.

Write for the three bye-elections for the Provincial House to be held in the ridings of Rimbstone, Whitford and Sedgewick, have been issued, calling for nominations to be held July 2nd, and elections one week later if necessary.

A second action to determine whether or not slot machines are illegal gambling devices, has been commenced by the attorney general's department in the courts of Edmonton.

W. C. Bryan, Superintendent of the Alberta Provincial Police, has been appointed commissioner of the force, in place of Commissioner Cuddy, who has returned to Toronto. Col. Bryan's appointment became effective June 15. The offices of the superintendent and commissioner will be combined. Col. Bryan is a former mounted police officer with a long record of police work.

Where the Fault Lies.

In answer to complaints regarding the Meridian road north of the Baseline, Councillor Brox replies that a culvert will be put in the road immediately north of the Baseline, and the road graded up. At the bridge at Mr Giebelhaus' gate, it is expected the old structure will be replaced by a new one. The delay, so far, has been caused thru awaiting the action of the Government, which has a share in the work.
